ENTERPRISE HIGHLIGHTS

Urban Teachers

Urban Teachers strives to reduce frequent teacher turnover, which negatively impacts both schools and children. Its comprehensive training programs are designed to improve the educational and life outcomes of children in urban schools by preparing culturally competent, effective career teachers who accelerate student achievement and disrupt systems of racial and socioeconomic inequity. Urban Teachers offers a master’s degree, coaching, mentoring, and job placement to prepare and support early-career educators working in challenging environments. Since 2009, Urban Teachers has welcomed over 500 aspiring teachers and expanded to 93 schools across Baltimore and Washington, DC.

Donkey and Goat

Berkeley-based Donkey and Goat (D&G) is a major player in California’s natural wine movement. D&G makes natural wines, which are wines that incorporate sustainable, natural, and biodynamic practices from the farm to the cellar. Unlike other wine producers, D&G only uses small amounts of sulfites and bottles its wines without stabilization, fining, or filtration—resulting in distinct colors and flavors. The winery builds strong relationships with California growers and supports farmers’ efforts to cultivate sustainable and biodynamic practices on the land they steward.

All Good

All Good is an organic skincare company with a vision to inspire people to live in balance with nature. All Good makes reef-friendly sunscreens and personal products, such as lip balms and hand sanitizer, from organic and botanical ingredients, including some grown on their farm in Morro Bay, California. All Good is a vocal advocate for legislation to ban the toxic chemicals found in most traditional sunscreens that disrupt marine ecosystems. As a Certified B Corp and 1% for the Planet member, their business philosophy measures success through environmental, social, and economic health.
